

TENURED AND TENURE-TRACK COMMUNICATION FACULTY SALARIES

The 2017–2018 Faculty in Higher Education Survey, conducted by The College and University Professional Association for Human Resources (CUPA-HR), contains detailed aggregate salary information for 162,811 full-time tenured and tenure-track faculty representing 696 institutions and 34 academic disciplines. The chart below compares tenured and tenure-track faculty salaries by rank and discipline for Communication and similar disciplines.

Tenured and Tenure-Track Faculty Salaries by Rank and Discipline, 2017–2018, in U.S. Dollars

The report also provides detailed aggregate salary information for faculty from 696 institutions for 63,980 full-time, non-tenure-track faculty. These data reflect salary information for non-tenure teaching faculty, specifically instructors, in Communication and similar disciplines.

Non-Tenure-Track Instructor Salaries By Discipline, 2017–2018, in U.S. Dollars

Note: Communication is listed by CUPA-HR as “Communication, Journalism, and Related Programs,” English is listed as “English Language and Literature/Letters,” and Philosophy is listed as “Philosophy and Religious Studies.”

Source: Salary Data: CUPA-HR Salary Data, 2017-2018. <https://www.higheredjobs.com/salary/>